

Life Skills & Vocational Training

When most orphans turn 18, they are turned into the streets to fend for themselves. With no opportunities or hope for a skill set or vocational training, these young adults become prostitutes, criminals or they beg on the streets. Sadly, this only perpetuates the poverty crisis as well as the orphan crisis in Haiti.

Mission of Truth has successfully launched Age Out, Step Up!, a program that will enable them to attend a vocational school and learn a trade. Mission of Truth also finds a host family in the community that will allow a child to live with them while they are going to school. This program allows each child to transition into adulthood equipped to take care of themselves and not live a life in poverty. Our goal is to give them hope for their life set them up for success!
